In Memoriam

In loving memory of Edward Burrell who died a year ago, June 2, 1978.
Just when the red June Roses blow
We gave him one - a year ago
A rose whose crimson breath revealed
The love that its heart concealed,
A year ago - A year ago

Just when the red June Roses blow
We plucked him one - a month ago;
It's half-blown crimson to eclipse,
Remembering then the smile on his lips,
The balmy fragrance of the east
Drew sweetness, knowing of his peace.
Swiftly do golden hours creep
Knowing that he is God's to hold.
And not ours to keep.
Sadly missed by his family

The first winner of the United States Open golf championship was Horace Rawlins in 1895. The U. S. Open and the U. S. Amateur rank foremost among the 10 national championships conducted by the United States Golf Association, the national governing body of golf.

• • •

Although the game of golf was invented in Scotland, some Scots back in 1457, afraid it might become more popular than the national sport of archery, prevailed upon Parliament to ban it. But after King James IV took up golf about 1490, the law was no longer enforced.
